MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff Lourdes LeFevre (“Plaintiff”), on behalf of real party in interest the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency (“LWDA”) and aggrieved employees, brings this unopposed motion and respectfully requests the Court approve the Parties’ settlement of the LWDA’s claims for civil penalties against Defendant. This case has been in hard fought litigation for over five (5) years. The Parties’ settlement was reached after this case was litigated to the Ninth Circuit and all the way up to the Supreme Court. The settlement follows significant investigation into Plaintiff’s claims, including an analysis of Plaintiff’s likelihood of success and the amount of penalties recoverable (and the likelihood that the recoverable penalties would be discounted). The settlement was reached following an arms-length negotiation overseen by an experienced representative/class action mediator.

15 The proposed settlement totals $3,062,000.00, which the Parties estimate 16 will be allocated as follows:

- $1,505,601.46 to the LWDA;
 - $501,867.16 to the Aggrieved Employees;
 - $22,550.00 in administration costs;
 - $1,020,666.67 in attorneys' fees; and,
 - $11,314.71 in litigation costs and expenses.

22 The settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate, and will provide a 23 significant benefit to the LWDA and to the aggrieved employees while also 24 deterring future alleged violations of the Labor Code while ensuring enforcement 25 of California law. Accordingly, Plaintiff respectfully requests the Court's approval 26 of this settlement.

II. FACTUAL SUMMARY

28 Defendant Five Star Quality Care is a senior living provider operating in

1 California. Plaintiff began working for Defendant on or around January 15, 2013, 2 performing personal care at Five Star's Redlands location. Plaintiff's primary job 3 duties arose out of total care for patients, including those with terminal illnesses 4 and severely debilitating conditions like Alzheimer's Disease and dementia. On 5 February 17, 2015, Plaintiff served Five Star and the LWDA with notice of intent 6 to bring a PAGA action. The underlying labor code violations Plaintiff alleges 7 include unpaid wages, unpaid meal and rest period premiums, failure to timely pay 8 final wages, non-compliant wage statements, and unreimbursed business expenses.

9 III. PROCEDURAL POSTURE

10 Plaintiff is a California resident who filed her PAGA and class action
 11 complaint in San Bernardino County Superior Court on May 20, 2015. (Dkt. 1.)
 12 The action was removed to federal court and the parties engaged in litigation 13 related to Defendant's assertion that Maryland law, rather than California law, 14 applied to disputes regarding the enforcement of the arbitration agreement and that, 15 therefore, the representative action waiver contained therein was enforceable, 16 meaning her PAGA claim should be dismissed or, in the alternative, her 17 representative PAGA claims were waived based on Maryland law and her 18 individual PAGA claim must be arbitrated. The Court denied Defendant's motion 19 to compel arbitration on the individual PAGA claim. (Dkt 25.)

20 Defendant filed a notice of appeal to the Ninth Circuit to challenge the 21 Court's denial of Defendant's motion to compel arbitration of the individual 22 PAGA claim and the application of the choice of law provision to disputes related 23 to the arbitration agreement. (Dkt. 28, 32.) On appeal, the Ninth Circuit affirmed 24 the District Court's ruling applying California law and rejecting Defendant's 25 argument that Maryland law applied. (Dkt. 47.) The Ninth Circuit's December 6, 26 2017 ruling also rejected Defendant's contention that PAGA statutory claims were 27 waived, and Plaintiff's claims were allowed to proceed. (Dkt. 47.) Defendant then 28 litigated the case to the United States Supreme Court. Plaintiff filed an opposition

1 to Five Star's petition for writ of certiorari and the Supreme Court denied 2 Defendant's writ petition.

3 After the appeals concluded, the Court held an evidentiary hearing regarding 4 the remainder of Defendant's motion to dismiss the class claims and arbitrate 5 Plaintiff's individual claims pursuant to the Parties' arbitration agreement. On 6 November 12, 2019, the Court granted Defendant's motion to dismiss the class
 7 claims and stayed the remaining PAGA claim pending completion of arbitration 8 proceedings on Plaintiff's individual claims. (Dkt. 75.)

9 With Plaintiff's PAGA claims pending and Plaintiff having initiated 10 arbitration for non-PAGA claims, the parties engaged in a mediation with Tripper 11 Ortman, Esq., an experienced class action/PAGA mediator. After extensive pre-12 mediation disclosures and exchange of wage and hour data and discovery, and with 13 the engagement of the neutral mediator, the parties reached a settlement of the 14 PAGA claims.

15 IV. LEGAL STANDARD

16 The California Legislature enacted PAGA "to allow aggrieved employees, 17 acting as private attorneys general, to recover civil penalties for Labor Code 18 violations, with the understanding that labor law enforcement agencies were to 19 retain primacy over private enforcement efforts." Arias v. Superior Court, 46 Cal.
 20 4th 969, 980 (2009); Baumann v. Chase Inv. Servs. Corp., 747 F.3d 1117, 1121 21 (9th Cir. 2014) ("If the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency
 22 ('LWDA') declines to investigate an alleged labor law violation or issue a citation, 23 an aggrieved employee may commence a PAGA action against an employer 24 'personally and on behalf of other current or former employees to recover civil 25 penalties for Labor Code violations.'"). An "aggrieved employee" is defined as 26 "any person who was employed by the alleged violator and against whom one or 27 more of the alleged violations was committed." Cal. Lab. Code § 2699(c).

28 "An employee plaintiff suing [under PAGA] does so as the proxy or agent of 1 the state's labor law enforcement agencies." Arias, 46 Cal. 4th at 986. An action

 2 for civil penalties under PAGA "is fundamentally a law enforcement action 3 designed to protect the public and not to benefit private parties" Id. (quoting 4 People v. Pacific Land Research Co., 20 Cal. 3d 10, 17 (1977)). "Because an 13 Further, section 2699(l)(2) states, "[t]he superior court shall review and 14 approve any settlement of any civil action filed pursuant to this part. The proposed 15 settlement shall be submitted to the agency at the same time that it is submitted to 24 The LWDA has suggested some guidelines for approving PAGA claims, 25 which have been cited with approval by a number of courts: when a PAGA claim 26 is settled, the relief provided for under the PAGA [should] be genuine and 27 meaningful, consistent with the underlying purpose of the statute to benefit the 28 public and, in the context of a class action, the court [should] evaluate whether the

1 settlement meets the standards of being fundamentally fair, reasonable, and 2 adequate with reference to the public policies underlying the PAGA. Syed v. M-I,
 3 L.L.C., No. 112CV01718DADMJS, 2017 WL 714367, at *13 (E.D. Cal. Feb. 22, 5 201 F. Supp. 3d 1110, 1133 (N.D. Cal. 2016).

6 In doing so, the Court may “consider factors such as the merits of the action, 7 the maximum recovery the plaintiff could obtain if the merits were decided in his 8 favor, and ‘how and why [the] parties arrived at the settlement amount.’” Hollis, 9 2017 WL 131994 at *2. As other courts in this district have found, however, “the 10 Act is surprisingly short on specifics,” and neither the California legislature, the 11 LWDA, nor California courts have identified “the appropriate standard for 12 approval of such a settlement.” Flores v. Starwood Hotels & Resorts Worldwide, 13 Inc., 253 F. Supp. 3d 1074, 1075 (C.D. Cal. 2017). As a result, “[f]ederal district 14 courts, sitting in diversity, have often been left to their own devices in this area of 15 great importance to the citizens of California.” Id. at 1075-76.

16 V. LEGAL ARGUMENT

17 a. Standard for Approval of PAGA Settlement

18 The settlement of a PAGA claim requires court approval. Labor Code 19 §2699(l). In reviewing a proposed PAGA settlement, courts are encouraged to be 20 mindful that “[s]ettlement is a compromise, which balances the possible recovery 21 against the risks inherent in litigating further.” In re TD Ameritrade Account 22 Holder Litig., Case No. C 07-2852 SBA, 2011 WL 4079226, *9 (N.D. Cal. Sept.
 23 13, 2011). Indeed, “the very essence of a settlement is ... ‘a yielding of absolutes 24 and an abandoning of highest hopes,’” as “it is the very uncertainty of outcome in 25 litigation and avoidance of wasteful and expensive litigation that induce 26 consensual settlements.” Officers for Justice v. Civil Service Com., 688 F.2d 615, 27 624-25 (9th Cir., 1982) (internal citations omitted). As such, “the settlement or 28 fairness hearing is not to be turned into a trial or rehearsal for trial on the merits,” 1 or “judged against a hypothetical or speculative measure of what might have been 2 achieved.” Id.

3 Although the operative PAGA statute does not set forth the criteria by which 4 a PAGA settlement is to be judged, courts often analyze the factors used to review 5 of a class action settlement. In doing so, however, courts should be mindful that “a 6 PAGA claim asserted on a non-class representative basis . . . is not considered a 7 class action but a law enforcement action, and therefore does not have to meet the 8 requirements of [a class action].” Casida v. Sears Holdings Corp., 2012 WL 9 253217 at *3 (E.D. Cal. Jan. 26, 2012); Thomas v. Aetna Health of Cal., Inc., 2011
 10 WL 2173715, at * 11 (E.D. Cal June 2, 2011); Arias v. Superior Court, 46 Cal. 4th 11 969, 980-88 (affirming lower court's holding that “plaintiff need not satisfy class 12 action requirements” to assert a PAGA claim); Pedroza v. PetSmart, Inc., 2013
 13 WL 1490667, at *15 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 28, 2013); Mendez v. Tween Brands, Inc., 14 2010 WL 2650571 at *4 (E.D. Cal. Jul. 1, 2010). A court’s review of a PAGA 15 settlement necessarily implicates the following unique features that render the 16 approval process distinct from approval of a class action settlement under Rule 23.

17 First, in evaluating the adequacy of the settlement amount, the Court’s focus 18 is not concerned with the amount(s) that “aggrieved employees” are to receive, but 19 rather, must focus on the total settlement amount in achieving PAGA’s law 20 enforcement objective. Indeed, “[t]he remedy sought in a PAGA suit consists of 21 civil penalties, not individual or class damages,” and a “[PAGA] action is ...
 22 designed to protect the public and penalize the employer for past illegal conduct,” 23 not to compensate aggrieved employees. Mendez, supra, 2010 WL 2650571 at *4; 24 see also Ochoa-Hernandez v. Cjaders Foods, Inc., 2010 WL 1340777 at *4 (N.D.
 25 Cal. Apr. 2, 2010) (“Unlike class actions, these civil penalties are not meant to 26 compensate unnamed employees because the action is fundamentally a law 27 enforcement action.”).

28 As the court in Ochoa-Hernandez further explained, “[u]nlike a class action

1 seeking damages or injunctive relief for injured employees, the purpose of PAGA 2 is to incentivize private parties to recover civil penalties for the government that 3 otherwise may not have been assessed and collected by overburdened state 4 enforcement agencies.” Id. For these reasons, the California Legislature 5 determined that the State of California should receive the bulk of the proceeds – 6 75% – of any PAGA settlement or judgment. Lab. Code § 2699(i); see also ZB, 7 N.A. v. Superior Court, 8 Cal. 5th 175, 198 (2019).

8 Second, consistent with the fact that unnamed employees have no property 9 interest in a PAGA claim, “[u]nnamed employees need not be given notice of the 10 PAGA claim, nor do they have the ability to opt-out of the representative PAGA 11 claim.” Ochoa-Hernandez, 2010 WL 1340777 at *5. This renders the approval 12 process of a PAGA settlement distinct from a class action settlement, as there is no
 13 need for the Court to employ the two-step approval process required under Rule 14 23.

15 Finally, unlike class action settlements under Rule 23, the scope of release 16 permitted in a PAGA settlement is limited. While “judgment in [a PAGA] action is 17 binding not only on the named employee plaintiff but also on government agencies 18 and any aggrieved employee not a party to the proceeding . . . the non-party 19 employees, because they were not given notice of the action or afforded any 20 opportunity to be heard, would not be bound by the judgment as to remedies other 21 than civil penalties.” Arias, supra, 46 Cal.4th at 986-87 (2009); see also ZB, N.A., 22 supra, 8 Cal. 5th at 196 (“Nonparty employees are bound by the judgment in an 23 action under the PAGA, but only with respect to recovery of civil penalties”).
 24 Thus, the scope of a release in a PAGA settlement does not include the release of 25 the aggrieved employees’ statutory or common law claims for damages and/or 26 restitution.

27 b. The Proposed Settlement is Fair, Adequate and Reasonable

28 The Settlement Agreement is attached to the accompanying declaration of 1 Michael W. Parks as Exhibit “A” and the complete terms are described therein.

 2 (Declaration of Michael W. Parks (“Parks Decl.”), ¶¶12-18; Ex. “A”.) The Court’s 3 role in evaluating a proposed settlement is limited to ensuring that the agreement 4 taken as a whole is fair and is not the product of fraud or collusion between the 5 negotiating parties. See, e.g., Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1027 (9th 6 Cir. 1998). Courts apply a presumption of fairness “if the settlement is 7 recommended by class counsel after arm’s-length bargaining.” Wren v. RGIS 8 Inventory Specialists, No. C-06-05778 JCS, 2011 WL 1230826, at *6 (N.D. Cal.
 9 Apr. 1, 2011). There is also “a strong judicial policy that favors settlements, 10 particularly where complex class action litigation is concerned.” In re Syncor 11 ERISA Litig., 516 F.3d 1095, 1101 (9th Cir. 2008). Although this case is not a class 12 action, the same presumptions and policies apply to this case as well.

13 As discussed below, this settlement is presumed to be fair because it was 14 reached after arms-length negotiations with an experienced and respected 15 mediator, without any evidence of collusion or fraud. The terms of the settlement 16 are also objectively fair to the LWDA given the risks inherent in litigation, and the 17 defenses to liability and representative recovery presented by Defendant in this 18 particular case.

19 i. *The Settlement is the Result of Arms-Length Negotiations

20 The parties engaged in adversarial settlement negotiations after significant 21 statistical analysis of data, informal discovery, calculation of liability by Plaintiff’s 22 counsel, and the assistance of an experienced wage-and-hour mediator. (Parks 23 Decl., ¶ 3). Counsel for the parties aggressively pursued their respective positions 24 before eventually reaching an agreement. (Id.) Each side provided the other with 25 several settlement proposals before the agreement was reached. (Id.) The 26 negotiations were rigorous and conducted at arm’s-length. (Id.) The Settlement 27 cannot be described as fraudulent or collusive. (Id.) Rather, the Settlement is the 28 product of informed and rigorous negotiations by experienced counsel. (Id.)

1 Because the proposed settlement was the result of arms-length negotiations, and 2 there is no evidence of fraud or collusion, the proposed settlement is presumed to 3 be fair. Wren, 2011 WL 1230826, at *6.

4 ii. Plaintiff and Her Counsel Support the Settlement After 5 Significant Investigation of the Factual and Legal Issues

6 Where counsel are qualified to represent the proposed class in a settlement 7 based on their prior class and other representative action experience and familiarity 8 with the strengths and weaknesses of the action, the support of Plaintiff's counsel 9 is an important factor that, in turn, supports finding of fairness. Wren, 2011 WL 10 1230826, at *10; Carter v. Anderson Merchandisers, LP, No. EDCV 08-0025-11 VAP OPX, 2010 WL 1946784, at *8 (C.D. Cal. May 11, 2010) ("Counsel's 12 opinion is accorded considerable weight.").

13 Plaintiff's counsel has experience prosecuting class and representative wage-14 and-hour litigation. (Parks Decl., ¶¶ 7-11.) Prior to reaching an agreement to settle 15 the PAGA claims, the parties engaged in formal and informal discovery. (Parks 16 Decl., ¶ 4.) Defendant provided the following information to Plaintiff's counsel 17 prior to mediation: (1) Plaintiff's wage statements, personnel file, and payroll 18 records; (2) Defendant's handbooks in effect during the relevant limitations
 19 periods; (3) forms used by Defendant and its employees relevant to Plaintiff's 20 claims; (4) a sampling of employee schedules, (5) over five years' worth of 21 timekeeping data consisting of over 300,000 work weeks and approximately 22 180,000 pay periods for approximately 5,000 of Defendant's employees; (6) over 23 five years' worth of payroll data for the same group of employees; (7) additional 24 statistics for the group of aggrieved employees. (Id.)

25 Using this information, Plaintiff was able to determine or estimate: (i) rates 26 of pay for the aggrieved employees; (ii) the total number of former and current 27 employees who worked during the relevant period; (iii) the total number of shifts 28 worked by all aggrieved employees during the relevant period; (iv) the number of 1 workweeks during the relevant period; (v) the number of pay periods during the 2 relevant period; (vi) the timing and length of meal breaks taken by the aggrieved 3 employees; (vii) the number of rest breaks and meal periods to which employees 4 were entitled during each shift worked; (viii) the amount of meal period and rest 5 break premiums paid by Defendant during the relevant period; (ix) the scope and 6 extent of Defendant's wage and hour policies, practices, and procedures; (x) the 7 amounts owed and paid for overtime and double time; (xi) wage statement 8 compliance; and, (xii) reimbursement of business expenses. (Parks Decl., ¶ 5.)

9 Based on this representative data, Plaintiff performed an analysis of potential 10 PAGA penalties that could be recovered, and the likelihood of recovering the same 11 based on Defendant's defenses to liability and the ability of the Court to award 12 reduced penalties. (Id.) Plaintiff undertook comprehensive and complex 13 mathematical calculations to create a damages model assuming varying rates of 14 violation per labor code section and per pay period. (Id.) Plaintiff did a thorough 15 analysis of the written wage and hour policies and conducted targeted legal 16 research regarding wage and hour issues specific to Defendant's industry, in 17 addition to trends within the district courts regarding assessing and levying PAGA 18 penalties following a bench trial. (Id.)

19 After evaluating the factual allegations and legal issues that would arise 20 prior to and during trial, including a review of the data and information discussed 21 above, and considering the uncertainties and expenses of further protracted 22 litigation in a case that had already been pending for five (5) years, the Parties 23 settled the case in an amount that reflects a fair compromise that confers 24 substantial benefit upon the State of California and the aggrieved employees.
 25 Therefore, Plaintiff and her counsel have determined that the settlement is in the 26 best interests of all parties, including the State of California and the aggrieved 27 employees. (Parks Decl., ¶ 6.) Plaintiff's counsel's determination was made after 28 taking into account all factors that would affect Plaintiff's ability to recover civil

1 penalties on behalf of the LWDA. Plaintiff agreed to settle the LWDA's claims for 2 civil penalties only after performing such an analysis. (Id.) The settlement was 3 reached as a result of the substantial work performed by Plaintiff's Counsel.
 4 (Parks Decl., ¶ 19-23.)

5 iii. The Terms of the Settlement Are Fair and Reasonable

6 In evaluating the fairness of a proposed settlement, "the test is not the 7 maximum amount Plaintiff might have obtained at trial on the complaint, but rather 8 whether the settlement is reasonable under all of the circumstances." Wershba v.
 9 Apple Computer, Inc., 91 Cal. App. 4th 224, 250 (2001); see also In re Microsoft I- 10 V Cases, 135 Cal. App. 4th 706, 723 (2006) ("[courts] should give due regard . . .
 11 to what is otherwise a private consensual agreement between the parties" and limit 12 "its inquiry to the extent necessary to reach a reasoned judgment that the 13 agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching").

14 Courts routinely approve settlements that provide a fraction of the maximum 15 potential recovery. See, e.g., Officers for Justice, supra, 688 F.2d at 623 ("It is 16 well-settled law that a cash settlement amounting to only a fraction of the potential 17 recovery will not per se render the settlement inadequate or unfair."); see also Rodriguez v. West Publ'g Corp., 2007 WL 2827379, at *9 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 10, 18 2007) (approving 30% of damages); In re Warfarin Sodium Antitrust Litig., 212

 23 approved); Entin v. Barg, 412 F.Supp. 508, 514 (E.D. Pa. 1976) (approving 17% of 25 Okla. 1972) (approving 8% of damages); Penaloza v. PPG Industries Inc., Case 26 No. BC471369, 2013 WL 2917624 at *2 (Super. Ct. L.A. County, May 20, 2013)

 27 (approving PAGA penalties averaging $7.49 per aggrieved employee ($5,000 /

1 667 aggrieved employees)); Cabrera v. Advantage Sale & Marketing, LLC, Case
 2 No. BC485259, 2013 WL 1182822 (Super. Ct. L.A. County, March 12, 2013)
 3 (approving PAGA penalties averaging $3.33 per aggrieved employee ($10,000 / 4 3,000 aggrieved employees). In turn, courts have approved PAGA settlements of 5 $0. See, e.g., Nordstrom Com. Cases, 186 Cal. App. 4th 576, 589 (2010) 6 (“find[ing] no abuse of discretion in the trial court’s approval of the settlement 7 agreement containing” $0 for the PAGA claim).

8 Such discounts are particularly appropriate in PAGA actions, in which 9 Courts exercise significant discretion in the amount of penalties to award. See 10 Carrington v. Starbucks Corp., 30 Cal. App. 5th 504, 529 (2018) (awarding 0.2% 11 of maximum PAGA penalties); see also Cotter v. Lyft, Inc., 193 F. Supp. 3d 1030, 12 1037 (N.D. Cal. 2016); Fleming v. Covidien, 2011 WL 7563047, at *4 (C.D. Cal.
 13 2011). During the penalty phase in Carrington, the plaintiff requested PAGA 14 penalties of approximately $70 million, but was awarded only $150,000—or 15 0.21% of the maximum—and the court found this warranted because imposing 16 the maximum penalty would be “unjust, arbitrary, and oppressive” based on 17 Starbucks’s “good faith attempts” to comply with meal period obligations and 18 because the court found the violations were minimal. Carrington, 30 Cal. App. 5th 19 at 517. This was affirmed on appeal. Id. at 529.

20 Likewise, in Cotter, the Court found that a $1 million PAGA settlement was 21 fair and reasonable in light of the unsettled nature of the law, resulting in a 97.5% 22 reduction from the maximum. And in Covidien, the Court reduced the potential 23 penalties by over 82%. See also, e.g., Thurman v. Bayshore Transit Mgmt., 203 24 Cal. App. 4th 1112, 1135-36 (2012) (30% reduction where the employer produced 25 evidence that it took its obligations seriously); Li v. A Perfect Day Franchise, Inc., 26 No. 5:10-CV-01189-LHK, 2012 WL 2236752, at *17 (N.D. Cal. June 15, 2012) 27 (denying PAGA penalties for violation of California Labor Code § 226 as 28 redundant with recovery on a class basis); Aguirre v. Genesis Logistics, No. SACV

1 12-00687 JVS (ANx), 2013 WL 10936035 at *2-*3 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 30, 2013)
 2 (reducing penalty for past PAGA violations from $1.8 million to $500,000.00, after 3 rejecting numerous other PAGA claims).

4 Here, the proposed settlement confers substantial benefits on the real party 5 in interest the State of California, as well as the aggrieved employees. In particular, 6 Defendant is expected to pay approximately $1,505,601.46 to the LWDA, an 7 amount that will be used “for enforcement of labor laws … and for education of 8 employers and employees about their rights and responsibilities under [the 9 California Labor] code.” Lab. Code § 2699(i). This amount is significantly more 10 than the amount allocated to the LWDA in other judicially approved settlements of 11 PAGA claims in hybrid actions. See Dearaujo v. Regis Corp., No. 2:14-cv-01408-
 12 KJM-AC (E.D. Cal. June 29, 2016), 2016 WL 3549473 at *3 ($1.95 million

 2 concurrently served with this motion and the settlement agreement prior to this 3 Court hearing the approval motion. (Parks Decl. ¶40.)

4 c. The Requested Attorneys' Fees and Costs are Reasonable

5 Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court award 33 1/3% of the gross 6 settlement amount in attorneys' fees. An award of 33 1/3% for fees is appropriate 7 in this case and Defendant does not oppose or object to this request. Foremost, 8 Plaintiff acted as a proxy on behalf of the State of California zealously battling to 9 keep this PAGA case alive, first by successfully opposing Defendant's efforts to 10 dismiss Plaintiff's PAGA claim or, in the alternative, to compel Plaintiff's 11 individual PAGA claim into arbitration by enforcing the representative action 12 waiver in the arbitration agreement pursuant to Maryland law and then by 13 protecting this Court's favorable rulings in the 9th Circuit appeal and SCOTUS.
 14 Plaintiff's Counsel undertook this appellate contest on a contingency basis 15 notwithstanding the extreme risk of no return, prolonged litigation delays, and 16 additional costs to boot. After Plaintiff's Counsel successfully opposed 17 Defendant's appeals and reinstated the case in this Court, Plaintiff's Counsel was 18 able to negotiate a significant seven figure settlement on behalf of Defendant's 19 California employees in the midst of the Coronavirus Pandemic and emergency 20 shutdowns.

21 When evaluating attorneys' fees, the Ninth Circuit has held that "the district 22 court has discretion in common fund cases to choose either the percentage-of-the-23 fund or the lodestar method." Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1047

 27 2017, No. 11-CV-01842-GPC-KSC) 2017 WL 4310707, at *9. When using the 28 percentage-of-the-fund method, "courts typically set a benchmark of 25% of the fund as a reasonable fee award, and justify any increase or decrease from this amount based on circumstances in the record.” Monterrubio v. Best Buy Stores, L.P., 291 F.R.D. 443, 455 (E.D. Cal. 2013); see Paul, Johnson, Alston & Hunt v. Graulty, 886 F.2d 268, 272 (9th Cir. 1989). The exact percentage varies depending on the facts of the case, and in “most common fund cases, the award exceeds that benchmark.” Id. (citing Knight v. Red Door Salons, Inc., 2009 WL 248367 (N.D. Cal. 2009); In re Activision Sec. Litig., 723 F.Supp. 1373, 1377-78 (N.D. Cal. 1989) (“nearly all common fund awards range around 30%”)). The percentage may be adjusted upward or downward based on (1) the results achieved; (2) the risks of litigation; (3) the skill required and the quality of work; (4) the contingent nature of the fee; (5) the burdens carried by counsel; and (6) the awards made in similar cases. Monterrubio, 291 F.R.D. at 455 (citing Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1048–50).

As described below, all the factors weigh in favor of awarding Plaintiff’s Counsel an award of 33 1/3% in attorneys’ fees.

i. The Results Achieved

Here, the approximately 5,000 employees whose data Plaintiff reviewed prior to mediation worked approximately 180,000 pay periods. Thus, at the default penalty rate of $100 per employee per pay period for an initial violation pursuant to Labor Code section 2699(f), Plaintiff could have obtained a maximum of $18 million in PAGA penalties assuming a 100% violation rate. Thus, Plaintiff’s $3M settlement translates to almost 17% of the soaking wet total verdict value. Moreover, assuming a 100% violation rate, Plaintiff was able to successfully negotiate a settlement yielding approximately $17 per pay period for the employees, which in Plaintiff’s experience, is considerably well above an average market value threshold on these cases.

Realistically though, the full penalty value is almost never assessed, and there is almost never a 100% violation rate. In Plaintiff’s experience, actual

1 violation rates can be closer to 25%. For example, the data provided by Defendant 2 showed that during the relevant time period while there were incidents of missed
 3 meal and rest breaks, there were also incidents where Defendant paid meal and rest 4 break premiums to its California employees and where Defendant's employees 5 frequently took compliant meal periods. Moreover, Defendant's employee 6 handbooks and policies arguably "provided" for meal breaks and employees may 7 have chosen not to take them or decided to cut them short without any 8 incentivization or adverse actions by the employer. The wage statements also 9 revealed incidents where the employer provided compliant overtime and double 10 time payments and where there were no independent wage statement issues other 11 than derivative claims. Defendant could also have raised arguable disputes over 12 reimbursable business expenses and limitations on claims Plaintiff could raise in 13 complying with Five Star's dress code. A significant aspect of Plaintiff's rest 14 break theory also rested on a disputed interpretation of the Augustus case, 15 particularly with respect to whether Augustus applied to Five Star healthcare 16 workers subject to the definition of work under California Wage Order 5 (i.e., the 17 FLSA suffered and permit standard) versus the "control" standard that was applied 18 to the putative class in Augustus.

19 If this case proceeded to trial, it is more than likely that the violation rate on 20 Plaintiff's best theories could have been well below 50%. Even assuming a 50% 21 violation rate, the maximum penalty gross utilizing the full $100 penalty without 22 reduction would have been $9 million. Plaintiff's Counsel's settlement of this case 23 for $3 million achieves a settlement result that is fully 1/3rd the realistic total 24 verdict value at a 50% violation rate, assuming the full $100 penalty and with NO 25 REDUCTION to the penalty amount.

26 However, as explained above, Courts regularly exercise discretion to lower 27 the penalty amounts to double or even single digits, especially in cases where, as 28 here, there is no Labor Commissioner finding or ruling or evidence of blatant

1 willful misconduct.. See Thurman v. Bayshore Transit Management, Inc., 203 Cal.
 2 App. 4th 1112, 1135 (2012); see also Amaral v. Cintas, 163 Cal. App. 4th 1157,
 3 1209 (2008) (“Until the employer has been notified that it is violating a Labor 4 Code provision (whether or not the commissioner or court chooses to impose 5 penalties), the employer cannot be presumed to be aware that its continuing 6 underpayment of employees is a ‘violation’ subject to penalties.”); Amalgamated 7 Transit v. Laidlaw Transit Services, Inc., 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 69842, *26 (S.D.
 8 Cal. Aug. 10, 2009).

9 Moreover, Defendant contends that all their relevant policies were lawful, 10 such that Defendant would argue that trial would be unmanageable due to the 11 individualized inquiry necessary to determine if and why its written policies were 12 not followed. See, e.g., Salazar v. McDonald's Corp., 2017 WL 88999 (N.D. Cal.
 13 Jan. 5, 2017) (striking plaintiff’s PAGA claim as unmanageable); Brown v.
 14 American Airlines, CV 10-8431-AG (PJWx) (C.D. Cal. Oct. 5, 2015) (granting 15 motion to strike PAGA claim for unpaid overtime because claim necessarily 16 required too many individualized assessments); Raphael v. Tesoro Ref. & Mktg.
 17 Co. LLC, 2015 WL 5680310, at *2 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 25, 2015) (plaintiff’s claims 18 would require the court to engage in a “multitude of individualized inquires 19 making the PAGA action unmanageable and inappropriate.”); Zhang v. Amgen, 20 2015 WL 5752562, at *1 (Cal. Sup. Aug. 13, 2015) (dismissing a plaintiff’s PAGA 21 representative action on the basis that “the variance in what the [alleged “aggrieved 22 employees”] do is sufficiently varied that using [plaintiff], and what he does, is not 23 a valid measure of what the others do”); Amey v. Cinemark USA, Inc., 2015 WL 24 2251504, at *16 (N.D. Cal. May 13, 2015) (“[W]hen the evidence shows, as it does 25 here, that numerous individualized determinations would be necessary to 26 determine whether any class member has been injured by Cinemark’s conduct, then 27 allowing a representative action to proceed is inappropriate.”); Bowers v. First 28 Student, Inc., 2015 WL 1862914, at *4 (C.D. Cal. Apr. 23, 2015) (“Even if Rule 23

1 did not apply to PAGA representative claims, such claims can be stricken if they 2 are found to be ‘unmanageable.’’’); Litty v. Merrill Lynch & Co., 2014 U.S. Dist.
 3 LEXIS 160448, at *6-7 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 10, 2014) (striking PAGA claim where 4 “[t]he circumstances of this case make the PAGA claim unmanageable because a 5 multitude of individualized assessments would be necessary”); Ortiz v. CVS 6 Caremark Corp., 2014 WL 1117614, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 19, 2014) (dismissing 7 PAGA claim as unmanageable where “a multitude of individualized assessments 8 would be necessary”).

9 Finally, defendants in other cases have successfully argued that a Plaintiff 10 cannot “stack” multiple penalties in a given pay period. *See, e.g., Sanchez v.
 11 McDonald’s Rests. of Cal.*, Los Angeles Superior Court Case No. BC499888
 12 (rejecting plaintiffs’ attempt to “stack” penalties under Section 1174.5 or Labor 13 Code Section 510); Smith v. Lux Retail N. Am., Inc., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 83562, 14 at *9 (N.D. Cal., June 13, 2013) (questioning whether a court “would really pile 15 one penalty on another for a single substantive wrong”).

16 Considering the above, and a Court’s ability at trial to further reduce the 17 recovery of penalties where the “facts and circumstances … otherwise would result 18 in an award that is unjust, arbitrary and oppressive, or confiscatory,” (Labor Code 19 section 2699(a)(2)), the gross settlement sum of $3,062,000.00 achieved in this 20 case by Plaintiff’s Counsel is significant as a fair and reasonable outcome.

21 ii. The Risks of Litigation

22 There were several significant substantive risks associated with litigating 23 this case in addition to the inherent risks involved with taking a case like this on a 24 contingency basis. In Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., the court awarded a higher 25 attorneys’ fee percentage after finding “that counsel pursued this case in the 26 absence of supporting precedents, in the face of agreements signed by the class 27 members forsaking benefits.” Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1048 28 (9th Cir. 2002). Similarly, Plaintiff’s Counsel here faced an arbitration agreement

1 with a waiver of PAGA rights in addition to a Maryland choice of law provision 2 related to enforcement of the arbitration agreement that could have, arguably, 3 extinguished Plaintiff's ability to have this case adjudicated in court. Defendant's 4 argument invoking the contractual choice of law provision to validate a PAGA 5 waiver was novel and the legal authority on this issue was neither established nor 6 clear. Ultimately, like Vizcaino, Plaintiff's Counsel succeeded in opposing 7 Defendant's appeal. Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1048 (9th Cir.
 8 2002).

9 Furthermore, it cannot be overstated that this settlement was achieved under 10 challenging circumstances of a pandemic and the risks and uncertainties created by 11 COVID-19. Litigation risks include the dangers of witnesses becoming 12 unavailable due to tragic health circumstances or loss of employment, further 13 significant delays in conducting discovery and proceeding to trial, and uncertainty 14 over financial condition. The Parties' use of technology and engagement of a 15 mediator with a strong reputation allowed both sides to weigh the risks and 16 benefits of continued litigation and reach a negotiated settlement.

17 iii. The Skill Required and the Quality of Work

18 An increase beyond the 25% benchmark is warranted where, as here, 19 "counsel's performance generated benefits beyond the cash settlement." Vizcaino v.
 20 Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1049 (9th Cir. 2002). Plaintiff's Counsel's work 21 product was a catalyst for non-monetary outcomes that inured to the benefit of the 22 State of California and its employees.

23 First, Plaintiff's successfully opposed Defendant's novel argument that a 24 Maryland choice of law provision in an arbitration agreement validated a PAGA 25 waiver that would otherwise be unenforceable in California. In doing so, 26 Plaintiff's Counsel preserved the LWDA's ability to vindicate its jurisdiction and 27 adjudicate this case in court. Plaintiff's efforts created precedent protecting the 28 rights of future aggrieved California employees at Five Star facing claims that a

1 Maryland “choice of law” provision pertaining to disputes over enforcement of an 2 arbitration agreement containing a representative action waiver can be invoked to 3 enforce the waiver of a PAGA claim, while strengthening California’s fundamental 4 policy to encourage private enforcement of Labor Code violations.

5 Second, although Defendant disputes liability and maintains that it has 6 complied with Federal and California law, the Parties agreed, and the settlement 7 agreement states, that “[d]uring the course of this litigation, Defendant has updated 8 its written employment policies applicable to California non-exempt employees.”

9 See p. 4, Section 2(b), Settlement Agreement. Based on the successful challenge 10 against Five Star’s Maryland choice of law provision over California law with 11 respect to the enforcement of the arbitration agreement, California employees’ 12 rights under PAGA are protected.

13 Moreover, this settlement was reached during the peak of the coronavirus 14 pandemic and emergency shutdowns. Courts had barely reopened and the Parties 15 were in uncharted territory without any true indicator as to what the future looked 16 like for legal professionals and litigants. Plaintiff’s ability to navigate a substantial 17 settlement despite these risks is a true testament to the result achieved. Under the 18 circumstances, Plaintiff’s Counsel’s ability to negotiate a significant monetary 19 result coupled with the non-monetary benefits achieved for the State of California 20 and its employees supports granting Plaintiff’s request for attorneys’ fees.

21 The size of the settlement is also a notable accomplishment when compared 22 to other PAGA recoveries. Indeed, it is significant that the outcome achieved in 23 this case represents one-third of the potential recoverable dollar amount had 24 Plaintiff taken this case to trial, prevailed and recovered the maximum penalty 25 allowable at a 50% violation rate. Plaintiff has obtained a seven-figure recovery 26 for the State, obtained a determination that Five Star must apply California law 27 over its choice of Maryland law, and has obtained significant recovery for 28 aggrieved employees throughout the state.

iv. The Contingent Nature of the Fee

The challenges that Plaintiff’s counsel had to confront and the risks they had to fully absorb on behalf of the LWDA and aggrieved employees are precisely the reasons for multipliers in contingency fee cases. See, e.g., Noyes v. Kelly Servs., Inc., 2:02-CV-2685-GEB-CMK, 2008 WL 3154681 (E.D. Cal. Aug. 4, 2008); Posner, Economic Analysis of the Law, 534, 567 (4th ed. 1992) (“A contingent fee must be higher than a fee for the same legal services paid as they are performed.... because the risk of default (the loss of the case, which cancels the debt of the client to the lawyer) is much higher than that of conventional loans”).

Attorneys who litigate on a wholly or partially contingent basis expect to receive significantly higher effective hourly rates in cases where compensation is contingent on success, particularly in cases where, like in the case at bar, the result is uncertain. This does not result in any windfall or undue bonus. In the legal marketplace, a lawyer who assumes a significant financial risk on behalf of a client rightfully expects that his or her compensation will be significantly greater than if no risk was involved (i.e., if the client paid the bill on a monthly basis), and that the greater the risk, the greater the “enhancement.”

Adjusting court-awarded fees upward in contingent fee cases, like this one, to reflect the risk of recovering no compensation whatsoever for hundreds of hours of labor simply makes those fee awards consistent with the legal marketplace, and in so doing, helps to ensure that meritorious cases will be brought to enforce important public interest policies and that clients who have meritorious claims will be better able to obtain qualified counsel.

“It is an established practice in the private legal market to reward attorneys for taking the risk of non-payment by paying them a premium over their normal hourly rates for winning contingency cases.” In re Washington Pub. Power Supply Sys. Sec. Litig., 19 F.3d at 1299. Thus, whether Plaintiffs’ Counsel have taken the case on a contingency fee basis must be considered when deciding to vary from the

1 25% benchmark. Monterrubio, 291 F.R.D. at 457. Thus, this factor weighs in favor 2 of an upward deviation from the benchmark.

3 v. The Burdens Carried by Counsel

4 The burden and cost associated with taking a case on a contingency basis is 5 ever present. However, Defendant's decision to appeal the Court's order denying 6 Defendant's motion to compel arbitration as to the PAGA claim amplified the 7 burden carried by Plaintiff's Counsel exponentially. Delays caused by the 8 appellate system are inevitable, and for contingency based plaintiffs' firms, these 9 delays are weighted. This is especially true for small boutique firms like Plaintiff's 10 Counsel's. Plaintiff's Counsel's firm consists of two partners and one associate. It 11 took over five (5) years of protracted litigation before the settlement outcome in 12 this case was achieved, and this result was only achieved after successfully 13 opposing Defendant's appeal to the 9th Circuit and Supreme Court. Thus, this 14 factor weighs in favor of the proposed fee enhancement.

15 vi. The Awards Made in Similar Cases

16 In California, federal and state courts have customarily approved payments 17 of attorneys' fees amounting to or exceeding 33 1/3% of the common fund in 18 comparable wage and hour class actions, which is what Plaintiff's Counsel is 19 requesting here. See Regino Primitivo Gomez, et al. v. H&R Gunlund Ranches, 20 Inc., No. CV F 10–1163 LJO MJS, 2011 WL 5884224 (E.D. Cal. 2011) (approving 21 attorneys' fees award equal to 45% of the settlement fund).

22 An award higher than 25% is warranted here, like Vizcaino, because 23 Plaintiff's Counsel achieved nonmonetary benefits that inured to the public benefit 24 in California. Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1049 (9th Cir. 2002); 25 see also See In re Pac. Enter., 47 F.3d at 379 (considering "nonmonetary benefits 26 in the derivative settlement"); cf. Bebchick, 805 F.2d at 408 (allowing an upward 27 adjustment to the lodestar "to reflect the benefits to the public flowing from [the] 28 litigation"); Mills v. Elec. Auto-Lite Co., 396 U.S. 375, 395, 90 S.Ct. 616, 24

1 L.Ed.2d 593 (1970) (stating that a corporation may receive a substantial benefit 2 from a derivative suit justifying a fee award regardless of whether the benefit is 3 pecuniary).

4 Plaintiff's Counsel should also be awarded a higher percentage because, like 5 other cases, Plaintiff's Counsel was able to settle this case for one third of the 6 maximum verdict value assuming a reasonable 50% violation rate and no reduction 7 in the penalty amount. See Fernandez v. Victoria's Secret Stores, LLC, No. CV 06-8 04149-MMM (SHx), 2008 WL 8150856, at *11-16 (C.D. Cal. 2008) (awarding 9 34% of the common fund where class counsel achieved a "generous" and 10 "extremely favorable result for the class" despite facing "substantial risk litigating 11 [the] case"); Boyd v. Bank of America Corp., No. 8:13-0561-DOC (JPRx), at *14-12 18 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 18, 2014) (awarding one third of the common fund where the 13 class counsel achieved a settlement equal to 36% of the full possible relief).

14 i. Cross-Check with Lodestar Calculations

15 Plaintiff's Counsel's requested lodestar rates are $850 (Schimmel—admitted 16 1981), $800 (Parks—admitted 1991), and $500 (Rhodes—admitted 2014) per 17 hour. Here, Plaintiff's counsel's attorneys' fees through November 16, 2020 are 18 $489,435.00, which are based on approximately 653 hours worked through 19 November 16, 2020 at the attorneys' lodestar hourly rates. (Parks Decl., ¶¶ 24-38.) 20 Plaintiff's counsel has not included in its lodestar calculations any of the additional 21 time it has continued to work on this matter after November 16, 2020 and expects 22 to continue to spend completing preparation of this motion, coordinating with 23 opposing counsel related to the motion and approval, preparing for and appearing 24 at the hearing for approval, working with the Settlement Administrator as needed, 25 and resolving any post-approval issues that may arise, and it has excluded 26 secretarial and administrative tasks as well. (See Parks Decl., ¶31.)

27 Calculation of the lodestar, which measures the lawyers' investment of time 28 in the litigation, provides a check on the reasonableness of the percentage award.

1 The lodestar calculation can be helpful in suggesting a higher percentage when, as 2 here, litigation has been protracted. Thus, while the primary basis of the fee award 3 remains the percentage method, the lodestar may provide a useful perspective on 4 the reasonableness of a given percentage award. Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1050. “To 5 inform and assist the court in the exercise of its discretion, the burden is on the fee 6 applicant to produce satisfactory evidence—in addition to the attorney’s own 7 affidavits—that the requested rates are in line with those prevailing in the 8 community for similar services by lawyers of reasonably comparable skill, 9 experience and reputation.” Camacho v. Bridgeport Fin., Inc., 523 F.3d 973, 980 10 (9th Cir. 2008) (quoting Blum v. Stenson, 465 U.S. 886, 896 (1984)).

11 Here, in addition to Plaintiff’s Counsel’s own personal assurances that the 12 hourly rates are reasonable, Plaintiff’s Counsel has presented the declaration of 13 David DeRubertis, a prominent employment litigation attorney in the state of 14 California who practices in Los Angeles and has expertise and direct familiarity 15 with and cited to cases where courts have awarded and substantiated Plaintiff’s 16 Counsel’s hourly rates. DeRubertis Decl., ¶¶2-11. Mr. DeRubertis has provided 17 detailed testimony and a foundation for determination that Plaintiff’s Counsel’s 18 proposed rates fall within the prevailing rates “in the community for similar 19 services by lawyers of reasonably comparable skill.” Camacho, supra.; DeRubertis 20 Decl., ¶¶12-24. Plaintiff’s Counsel also provided detailed billing records regarding 21 the number of hours spent on this case in further substantiation and support of the 22 Court’s cross-check concerning the reasonableness of the proposed fee award.
 23 Parks Decl. ¶¶28-36, Ex. “B”.

24 Moreover, the lodestar amount may be increased by applying a multiplier.
 25 See Serrano v. Priest, 20 Cal. 3d 25, 49 (1977). In California, “[m]ultipliers can 26 range from two to four or even higher” and are routinely applied in the range 27 requested by class counsel. Wershba v. Apple Computer, Inc., 91 Cal. App. 4th 28 224, 254 (2001); see also Chavez v. Netflix, Inc., 162 Cal. App. 4th 43, 66 (2008)

1 (upholding 2.5 multiplier); Glendora Community Redevelopment Agency v.
 2 Demeter, 155 Cal. App. 3d 465 (1984) (affirming a fee award that included a 12.0 3 multiplier). Some of the factors a trial court considers when determining whether 4 to apply a multiplier are: “(1) the novelty and difficulty of the questions involved, 5 (2) the skill displayed in presenting them, (3) the extent to which the nature of the 6 litigation precluded other employment by the attorneys, (4) the contingent nature 7 of the fee award.” See Ketchum v. Moses, 24 Cal. 4th 1122, 1132 (2001) (citations
 8 omitted). The ultimate goal is “to entice competent counsel to undertake difficult 9 public interest cases.” San Bernardino Valley Audubon Soc. v. County of San 10 Bernardino, 155 Cal. App. 3d 738, 755 (1985). Fee awards that are too small “chill 11 the private enforcement essential to the vindication of many rights....” Lealao v.
 12 Beneficial California, Inc., 82 Cal. App. 4th 19, 53 (2000).

13 Application of a multiplier as high as 2.5 would be appropriate based on the 14 contingent risk incurred by Plaintiff’s counsel in this 5+ years of litigation, the 15 results obtained in declining to apply Maryland Law to the enforcement of the 16 representative action waiver in the arbitration agreement, the difficulty of the 17 questions involved, the substantial benefit conferred on the LWDA and the 18 aggrieved employees as a result of the settlement, and the skill displayed by 19 Plaintiff’s counsel. DeRubertis Decl., ¶¶25-31; Parks Decl., ¶¶32-33, 38. In light 20 of the total hours and lodestar rates, Plaintiff’s counsel’s requested fee award 21 would be cross checked at an approximate 2.0 multiplier of the lodestar fees.
 22 Plaintiff’s counsel respectfully submits that an award of a 1/3rd of the recovery for 23 $1,020,666.67 in attorneys’ fees is reasonable under the circumstances of this case.

24 d. Plaintiff’s Reasonable Request for Reimbursement of Actual 25 Litigation Costs

26 Plaintiff’s counsel also requests reimbursement for their actual litigation 27 costs. The settlement agreement provides for reimbursement of costs not to exceed 28 $20,000.00. To date, Schimmel & Parks has incurred actual costs in the amount of 1 $11,314.71. (Parks Decl., ¶ 37; Exhibit "B".) These costs were reasonably incurred 2 in prosecuting this case on behalf of the LWDA and the aggrieved employees and 3 should be approved by the Court. Accordingly, Plaintiff's counsel respectfully 4 requests the Court approve costs in the amount of $11,314.71. Plaintiff's counsel's 5 efforts resulted in an excellent settlement, and therefore the fee and costs award 6 should be approved as fair and reasonable. Defendant does not oppose the 7 requested fees and costs to the Plaintiff's Counsel as a reasonable award.

8 e. Settlement Administration

9 The parties have agreed to use ILYM to administer the Settlement.
10 Estimated costs will not exceed $22,550.00. (Parks Decl., ¶ 39.) This amount will 11 include all costs of administering the settlement including but not limited to (i) 12 preparing, issuing and mailing any and all notices to the aggrieved employees and 13 the parties' respective counsel; (ii) communicating with the aggrieved employees 14 and the parties' respective counsel; (iii) computing, processing, reviewing and 15 making payments to the aggrieved employees; (iv) preparing any tax returns and 16 other filings required by any governmental taxing authority or agency; and 17 preparing and mailing any required notices under the Class Action Fairness Act.

18 VI. CONCLUSION

19 For all the foregoing reasons, this Court should grant this Motion for 20 Approval of PAGA Settlement, adopt the [Proposed] Order Granting Motion for 21 Approval of PAGA Settlement submitted herewith, and enter Judgment 22 accordingly.
